AT FORT MASON
CAPITAL CAMPAIGN

FOCUS: THE FESTIVAL PAVILION AT FORT MASON

The At-Fort-Mason Capital Campaign is a two-year, $7.5 million fund-raising campaign to complete ten major renovations projects within the historic piers and buildings of Fort Mason Center. The ten projects will preserve this National Historic Landmark, and create new and refurbished spaces for the increasing cultural activity occurring here.

Nonprofit cultural and educational organizations that produce festivals, exhibitions and shows of every type need a well-equipped, reasonably-priced facility in which to produce these events. For years, Pier 3 at Fort Mason has been the home for the Tahiti Fete, the San Francisco Fall Antiques Show, the Guardsmen Christmas Tree Lot, and many other successful community events. Now the At-Fort-Mason Capital Campaign will accomplish a major renovation of Pier 3, creating a Festival Pavilion worthy of these outstanding organizations, and this unique location.

In the memories of many, the piers at Fort Mason are recalled as the point of embarkation to the Pacific Theater of World War II. During that time, over 1.5 million troops marched their way down the length of these piers to waiting warships.

Now the piers are a place of peace. Stretching almost 600 feet into San Francisco Bay, they command a breathtaking panoramic view of the Golden Gate. Their vast interior spaces have become spectacular settings for special events and exhibitions that attract thousands of visitors from around the Bay Area and beyond. This month, Pier 3 welcomes back the Pacific States Craft Fair, one of the finest and most extensive craft shows anywhere.

The largest pier at Fort Mason, with 70,000 square feet of interior space, Pier 3 will receive new staging and exhibition equipment, lighting, windows that take advantage of magnificent Bay views, new flooring, and a host of interior furnishings and amenities. The Festival Pavilion will be designed to accommodate up to 5,000 people at a time. Its new features and extraordinary location will make it a unique showplace for events on a grand scale. Most important, the Festival Pavilion will make possible a greater number and variety of events for the San Francisco Bay Area community. And Fort Mason, through its careful management and spirit of service to the public, will ensure that events continue to be offered at low cost to producers as well as visitors.

As the largest renovation of the Capital Campaign, the Festival Pavilion is an important component in the effort to preserve and renovate Fort Mason's facilities for the future. For more information about the At-Fort-Mason Capital Campaign, call 441-3400.

TEOTIHUACAN MURAL PROJECT

A new mural, using traditional fresco painting techniques, now graces the lobby of Building D, just outside the Mexican Museum. This recently completed public mural project was prepared by San Francisco artist Jesus "Chuy" Campusano after being awarded the commission by the Museum.

Campusano's mural symbolizes universal life and regeneration.

The project, funded by Citicorp, was organized by the Museum in collaboration with the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco to commemorate the M. H. de Young Museum's acquisition and restoration of mural fragments from the ancient Teotihuacan archeological site. The mural illustrates pre-Hispanic designs symbolizing universal life and regeneration.

Campusano was assisted by internationally-known fresco painters Lucienne and Stephen Dimitroff. The Dimitroffs worked with Mexican master Diego Rivera on historic mural projects in the 1930's at the School of Fine Arts in Detroit and the Rockefeller Center in New York.

Mexican Museum Gallery and "La Tienda" hours are Wednesday through Sunday, Noon to 5pm. The current gallery exhibit, through August 3, is "Lo del Corazon: Heartbeat of a Culture." Opening August 20 is "The Art of Rupert Garcia: A Ten-Year Survey Exhibition." Active in the Chicano Cultural Renaissance of the late 1960's, the Bay Area artist is well-known locally for his passionate, superbly executed pastel portraiture. Steeped in the Mexican mural and revolutionary poster traditions, Garcia's work has appeared in important visual arts publications, and has been exhibited and collected nationally by prominent museums. The exhibit includes over fifty serigraphs, prints and large-scale pastel paintings.

For information about the mural, the gallery, or the Museum's programs and services, call 441-0404.

MAGIC: WINSTON TONG

Bay Area performance artist Winston Tong premieres his newest theater piece, "Three Times Me (3 X Me)—Playing with Dolls and Words and Music," at the Magic Theatre this month. Tong's work, always exciting and unique, has earned him a place on the cutting edge of avant-garde performance art. He has frequently performed off Broadway in New York, where he was a recipient of an Obie award. The New York Times has described his performances as "startlingly original . . .using dolls as puppets, voices on tape, slides and illuminations, and himself as actor, puppeteer and presence, Mr. Tong creates a multi-dimensional world." His latest work promises to be no exception.

Winston Tong in Three Times Me

Centering around the cult of personality, "3 X Me" consists of three segments that loosely follow a historical progression of the myth of Narcissus. The focal point of the first segment involves doll play in an operatic exploration of man trying to recreate himself in the image of the doll. The second segment explores the abstraction of action through words and images. The final segment is a synthesis of the diverse sources involved in Tong's work, from the esoteric to the popular, where life is encapsulized into performance/theater.

Written and directed by E. Troia, "3 X Me" provides a brilliant showcase for Winston Tong's versatile talents. Other collaborators on the project include T. Spence, pianist/composer/actor formerly with the Zasu Pitts Memorial Orchestra, and B. Geduldig, media artist with Tuxedomoon. Geduldig and Tong have often collaborated, and received a Bay Area Critics Award for the performance work "Eliminations."

"Three Times Me—Playing with Dolls and Words and Music" opens at the Magic's Northside Theatre on Wednesday, August 13 and runs through August 30. Performances are Wednesdays and Thursdays at 8:30pm, Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30pm and 10pm. Call the Magic Theatre ticket office at 441-8822 for details.

ACC CRAFTFAIR RETURNS

The 11th Annual Pacific States Craft Fair, now known as the ACC Craftfair San Francisco, returns to its original site, and its original mid-summer scheduling, this month in Piers 2 and 3 at Fort Mason.

More than 350 designers from across the country have been invited to the Bay Area to show and sell their handmade comtemporary objects, in clay, fiber, leather, jewelry, metal, wood, glass and media mix. A committee of nationally recognized leaders in the field of contemporary decorative objects reviewed submissions of 1500 applicants. This selection process is responsible for the event's international reputation for exhibiting objects created with imagination and made with integrity.

The Pacific States Craft Fair is one of three shows produced each year by American Craft Enterprises, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the American Craft Council. These events attract, annually, 10,000 wholesale buyers on the trade-only days, generating $20 million in sales for participating artists, in addition to the direct sales made on the days the shows are open to the public. Carol Sedestrom, president of ACE, expects record attendance at this year's event, which includes 170 artists from California and 180 artists from 36 states around the nation.

The American Craft Council, founded in 1943, stands for quality in handmade objects. ACC educates the public about the contemporary craft movement through its bimonthly magazine American Craft. ACE has an international reputation for excellence, presenting objects executed without technical flaw and with a strong identity of design.

8/8-10 ACC Craftfair San Francisco features ceramic sculpture by Carolyn Sale.

"Some of our artists work from a purely personal point of view and manifest their creativity in a totally individual statement. Each piece is different; some pieces function, others are purely decorative. Other exhibitors individually produce or manage small design studios which produce what I call the well-crafted object. These exhibitors have sensed the public's need for a better product and are supplying the unusual and unique objects that only hands can make," says Sedestrom.

A special educational exhibition, "The Language of Clay," will be on display in Pier 3. Prepared by the Association of San Francisco Potters, it gives the viewer a way of thinking about clay by presenting the full range of ceramic techniques. Entries were selected from the membership of the Association to represent a wide variety of ceramic expression. Each of the 63 artists has prepared a format to accompany the piece shown, listing the kind of clay, the method of forming, the surface treatment, and the method of firing. The presentation concludes with a statement of the artist's intent.

The ACC Craftfair is open to the public Friday, August 8 from 11am to 8pm; Saturday, August 9 from 11am to 6pm; and Sunday, August 10 from 11am to 5pm. Admission is $4 for adults; children under 12 admitted free. Food is available for sale during the show. There is free parking at Crissy Field, with a free shuttle bus provided to Fort Mason. For information, call (914) 255-0039.
